201 History 1 - 11 Week

Donald Gardner

Prehistory to the beginnings of the Industrial Revolution

Course Overview An interiors and architectural history course beginning with vernacular and prehistoric structures progressing to the outset of the Industrial Revolution of the mid-1700's and the arrival of mass-production. The course is designed to provide the student with a survey glimpse at the Classical architectural core and furniture styles from Egypt, Greece and Rome. Further developments, inclusive of an introduction to Muslim, Oriental, and Pre-Columbian structures precedes a continuation of European history, concluding at mass production of the Industrial Revolution.

Course Objectives To develop the student's understanding of extrinsic forces affecting interior development and address intrinsic contextual ideology promoting the philosophy of spatial design of the interior as an ensemble.

- economics
- religion
- political
- philosophies of beauty

Course Policies Attendance: Due to the nature of this class attendance is considered an important habit to acquire in becoming a mature, responsible member of the professional community. Each student may have two total absences from class for personal business, illness, automotive failure, weather, migraines, etc., without penalty. Please know, more than two consecutive class meeting absences or three non-consecutive absences per semester subject you to expulsion from the course: you may be dropped from the class. Advance requests for make-up participation in another session, may be made; however attending two alternate sessions may warrant rescheduling with IDI administration.

Each student is expected to be on time and to remain for the full class time each day. Lateness and early departure will accumulate toward an absence; three of either will equal one absence.

Course requirements: General readings completion of a final exam

Academic Dishonesty All academic work, written or otherwise, submitted by a student for a grade is expected to be the result of his/her own thought, research or self-expression. Plagiarism includes reproducing someone else's work or employing or allowing another person to alter or revise the work a student submits as his/her own. Should a student use part of, or refer to another source in the exercise, it is expected that proper credit will be given in accordance with established documentary formats. Any work submitted for grade, which proves to be that of someone other than the student will receive a "Ø" for grade.

Upon successful completion of the course, the Student shall be familiarized with the evident development of interior space as impacted by contextual extrinsic circumscription.

Materials Normal note-taking equipment.

Nota Bene Laptop computers, due complaints of keyboard "clicking" and illuminated screens impinging on viewing the classroom screen, are restricted to rear desks and perimeter locations. Do not count on there being adequate power receptacles.

NO PHOTOGRAPHY ABSOLUTLY NO EATING IN CLASSROOMS NO AUDIO OR VIDEO RECORDING DURING CLASS SESSIONS PERMITTED. Phones/Camera phones must be turned-off. Texting is unacceptable.
